Dear Sharlene:

I am not seeing a double or redundant reference to the April 23 cutoff for public speaker registrations, but in reviewing the EventBrite site, I see that the language about the two different cutoff dates appears on the "Checkout/Thank You page" description, even after the user has selected which type of ticket he or she wants to get. I think we should delete some of the language that Steven Knott was asking about.

Specifically, I recommend that Martin modify those two "Checkout Message" pages (both for the "Attend and Make a Comment" people and for the "Listen-only (Not Making a Comment)" people, to remove everything in that top paragraph after the exclamation mark. Please let me know if you concur. Sorry I did not catch this earlier.

Message received from outside the Battelle network. Carefully examine it before you open any links or attachments.

Steve reports that there is a second, redundant, "April 23rd" that should be removed (see his note below).

EPA has posted the link for the ListServ.

Thanks,
Sharlene

Print screen pasted below. This is a couple screens into the registration. "April 23, 2020" in middle of third line.

Thanks.

Steve

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying an Eventbrite checkout page. The page title is "Checkout" with a sub-header "Ticket (1/1)". The main content area has a heading "Registration 1 - Attend and Make a Comment" and a "Buy now" button. To the right, there is an "Order Summary" section with a table listing items and prices.

Order Summary
1 x Attend and Make a Comment	$0.00

Sharlene,

This is the listserv that goes out from OPPT. I don't believe Battelle needs to do anything at this point except correct the additional "April 23" I found. They've already made the Eventbrite site public. Let me know if I'm missing something.

Thanks.

Cheryl,

The Eventbrite link is provided below. Sharlene and I tested it (as did the contractor) and everything appears to work. I found another instance where April 23 is given as the deadline and I've passed that comment back to Sharlene.

I believe the link is ready for the listserv and website.

Please let us know if you have any questions.

Thanks.
